

NO JUSTICE TO TRY MOLINEUX.

Judge Barrett Too Ill to Preside and No Assignment Has Been Made.

NEED OF MORE COURTS.

It looks as if Roland B. Molineux would have to remain in the Tombs another month before being placed on trial. District Attorney Jerome said this morning that he feared it would be impossible to secure a Supreme Court Justice to preside over the Molineux case.

"Justice Barrett has been assigned to the Criminal branch of the Supreme Court," the District Attorney said, "but I understand he is too ill to preside. Chief Justice Van Brunt has under consideration the appointment of another Justice in place of Justice Barrett, but so far I have not heard that he has assigned any one."

Impossible Before November.

According to those who know, it will be impossible to have a Justice preside in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court before November. For years past the business of the Supreme Court in this city has been so great that additional Justices had to be brought down from the upper part of the State to assist in disposing of the cases on the calendar.

The resignation of Justices Edgar L. Fursman and Leslie W. Russell in the Fourth Department will prevent this practice this fall.

"The question of Justices and courts in this country," the District Attorney said to-day, "is a very important one. The population of this country since 1895 has been growing at the rate of about 50,000 a year. Of course crime has increased with this growth, but there have been no additional court facilities provided to grapple with this increased business."

Mr. Jerome Has Plans.

"It is my intention," the District Attorney continued, "provided a Justice can be obtained to apply to the Governor for an extraordinary Grand Jury and an additional criminal part of the Supreme Court to aid in the disposing of the many cases pending."

"As it is there are but 59 cases, prison and bail, pending now, some three hundred less than there was a year ago, but there should be no such number as that. As I have just said, there should be no reason why a man accused of crime should not be placed in trial within a few weeks after he commits the crime."

"Now, take those thirty-four murder cases. We have had but two courts during the summer, and consequently couldn't try a murder case. I intend to place these cases in the calendar of General Sessions as quickly as possible and dispose of them. Six of them will be before Judge Foster Monday, and I believe there will be little trouble in disposing of them."

"We need more courts and we need them badly. If a Justice can be procured by Monday, Molineux will be placed on trial then, for everything is ready."

POISON DIDN'T PASS HIS LIPS.

Charles Hill Attempted Suicide, but the First Taste of Acid Quickly Made Him Change His Mind.

Charles Hill, twenty-three years old, of No. 42, Sixteenth street, Brooklyn, is not likely to attempt suicide again. The pain he felt when the carbolic acid touched his lips to-day is all he wants to know about the subject.

A few weeks ago his father married again. Charles didn't like his mother-in-law, and he and his father quarrelled about her. Last night they had a bigger quarrel than usual and the young man went to his room in a rage.

A few moments after his father heard a cry of pain and smelled carbolic acid. He burst into the room and found his son with his lips burned. An ambulance was called, but the doctor thought that as he had taken so little he could walk to the police station on Fifth avenue. He was to be arraigned this morning in the Butler Street Court, charged with attempted suicide.

SLOW AMBULANCE COSTS A LIFE.

Man Who Tried to Commit Suicide in River Fished Out, but Dies Before Arrival of Conveyance.

It took an ambulance from the Lone Island College Hospital, in Brooklyn, nearly an hour to respond to a call less than half a mile away this morning, and meantime the patient died.

Frank Foster, twenty-eight years old, of No. 32 Hamilton avenue, jumped into the river at the foot of Atlantic avenue, Brooklyn. He refused to take hold of a rope thrown out by longshoremen, but was hooked with a pike pole and hauled ashore.

The first ambulance call was sent at 5.32. There was no response at 5.40, so a second call was sent. The man died at 6 o'clock, and ten minutes later the Lone Island College Hospital ambulance arrived.

Dr. Raymond, Deputy Health Commissioner of Brooklyn Borough, says he will make a thorough examination and find the cause of the delay.

CLUBS USED IN RIOT OF 4,000

Police Called Out to Quell Panic of Foreigners at the Barge Office.

THERE TO MEET FRIENDS

A riot was started to-day at the Barge Office by 4,000 men and women who journeyed to the southern end of the city to welcome the 1,385 immigrants who came in yesterday on the steamer Roma, of the Fabre line. So great was the rush that the officials were compelled to call in the aid of the police and the reserves of the Church street station dashed to the scene in a hurry.

Long before the first boat left for Ellis Island at 9 o'clock the crowd of anxious friends and relatives began to arrive on the pier and the majority were provided with passes. When the gates were opened there was a rush and the gatesman and the regular policemen stationed there were unable to keep back the crowd which surged forward like the tide.

Call for the Reserves.

With the assistance of a half dozen attaches of the office the gates were finally closed, and they were not opened again until a few minutes before 10 o'clock, when 4,000 persons of all ages and nationalities had gathered. The gatesman soon repented of their folly and a call was sent to the Church street station for relief.

By a free use of clubs the reserves managed to drive back the crowd and obtain order. This was not done until many had received slight injuries. Blame for the occurrence is laid at the door of the steamship company officials. They are charged by the Barge Office officials with having issued over 3,000 passes. At present no restrictions have been placed upon the various companies in the number of passes they issue, but today's riot will result in drastic reforms.

FAGOTTO PLAYER LANDED.

But Another of Mascagni's Musicians May Be Deported.

Carletti Tancredi and Michele Basile, musicians of the Mascagni Opera Company, who arrived in this harbor yesterday on the steamship Nord America, in the first cabin, were detained late yesterday afternoon by the doctors of the Marine Hospital and sent to Ellis Island for examination, to be held until cases could be disposed of.

The doctors said the men were probably afflicted with the disease known as "trachoma," a deflection of the eyes. Carletti is a very important member of the orchestra attached to the company, for he is one of few musicians who can master the fagotto, a difficult instrument.

After a careful examination had been made and much influence had been brought to bear Carletti was released and joined the orchestra, but Michele is still detained and will in all probability be deported.

DR. BYRNE DIES OF BROKEN HEART.

He Has Steadily Failed in Strength Since the Death of His Five Children from Consumption.

Eugene Berard, an attorney, has received a cablegram announcing the death of Dr. John Byrne, the noted gynecologist, at Montreux, Switzerland, of a broken heart. Mrs. Byrne and her two surviving daughters are in Montreal.

Since the death of five of his children by consumption Dr. Byrne had pined away, and he had been great pains to bring up his sons. It has always been a mystery how his children came to be attacked with tuberculosis, for it has never before appeared in his own or his wife's family, but it is said by medical friends that he contracted by the doctor's son John, who was associated with a consumption. Two of the daughters were also developed symptoms of the disease, and his brothers Eugene and Henry followed. To the doctor's wife were attacked, and all five finally succumbed. In his last trip to Europe Dr. Byrne told some of his friends that he had nothing to live for, and that he might never return to America alive.

LODGE NAMES Foe FOR GOVERNOR.

Senator Presents Name of John L. Bates to Massachusetts Convention, Which Commends Goal Conference

(Special to The Evening World.) BOSTON, Oct. 3.—The Republican State convention to-day nominated John L. Bates, for Governor; Curtis Guild, Jr., for Lieutenant-Governor; William M. Olin, for Secretary of State; Herbert Parker, for Attorney-General; Henry M. Turner, Auditor, and Edward S. Bradford, State Treasurer.

John D. Long, former Secretary of the Navy, presided, and Mr. Bates was placed in nomination by Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, who heretofore has been a strong opponent of the candidate.

The platform favors modification of the tariff laws in such a way as not to disturb business. Indiana President Roosevelt for his attempts to end the coal strike, and says both operators and miners should make concessions. It declares that putting this product of trusts on the free list is not to be thought of. John L. Bates, the nominee for Governor, has been Lieutenant-Governor for three years.

From a Jewelry Bench in a Stationer's Shop to a Metropolitan Factory.

For large manufacturers of jewelry to work up a retail business would be in the nature of a descending scale. For retailers to gradually extend their sphere until it becomes necessary to maintain a large, exclusive factory is quite the reverse. It shows a healthy and magnificent growth.

Twenty-six years ago the LAMBERT JEWELRY STORE was started. It was started on a bench in a stationery store on Third avenue. Many New Yorkers to-day remember it. That was the dropping of the pebble in the water. The ripples have found their way to every inch of shore around New York.

To sell the highest grade jewelry at smaller prices than other retailers, the founders of the house realized they must make it themselves. They did it. They never let an article go out under false representation, they knew just what material went into it. That has been the history of the LAMBERT store and factory—of the LAMBERT guarantee—of the LAMBERT success.

Do you wonder that the store and the factory, under one roof, were enlarged last month?

Wedding Rings True as the Sacred Sentiment They Represent.

14 Karat, $3 to $12.

18 Karat, $4 to $16.

22 Karat, $6 to $24.

No Charge for Engraving.

Eighteen-karat honesty was never put to better service than in a wedding ring. In beginning the manufacture of jewelry, which finally extended to every style and grade of the precious metals and stones, wedding rings first engaged the LAMBERT attention. They were the foundation of our manufacturing business. LAMBERT WEDDING RINGS have since become known the whole world round. They are honest and full weight, and being made by the firm that sells them, are more reasonable in price than any others. And they have become famous because they are seamless—a special virtue of their own.

An Ornamented, Gold Cased Woman's Watch for $27.50.

A little finer and heavier and with a more elaborate case than the other Woman's Watch—three things which amount to much to the wearer. Lambert, Elgin or Waltham movement and 14-karat gold. The guarantee which goes with it is practically an insurance policy on the life of the watch.

14-Karat Gold Woman's Watch for $20.00.

In looking back over the history of the house there are certain watches which stand out above their fellows. This is one of them. We have watches of the same style for less, but this is the best value we have ever seen. Waltham, Lambert or Elgin works. Comparison will show the value.

The Artist, the Jeweller and the Stone-Setter Collaborate.

Up the new, broad stairway which leads from the LAMBERT salesroom to the LAMBERT factory, no prettier lesson is taught than the delicate unity of workmanship possible between the artist and the artisan. It is beautifully exemplified in the Miniature Brooches, whose fashion of late has become sharply pronounced. To have the necessary appearance of elegance, they must be designed by masters at the intricate art of miniature making. The LAMBERT miniature artists are the pride of the factory. A brooch is shown here which is made by ourselves of 14 karat gold, of 40 fine diamonds and 10 fine whole pearls, $135.00.

CLASS WAR BREAKS OUT AT CORNELL.

Sophomores Break Agreement and Haze Freshmen, One of Whom Was Injured in Ensuing Clash.

(Special to The Evening World.) ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 3.—In a clash between Freshmen and Sophomores at Cornell a Freshman named Stevens, from St. Paul, Minn., was injured. The trouble started from a Sophomore class meeting. Having finished their business the Sophs raided the boarding-house where they knew Freshmen were housed. The Freshies were hustled from their rooms, placed on barrels and rolled along Eddy street. They were compelled to hug and kiss each other and bark at the moon, while the Sophomores, surrounding their victims, howled with delight.

Other Freshmen hurried to the rescue of their classmates, and the clash resulted. Last year it was agreed in mass meeting by the students to hold one organized annual rush and to stop all incidental affairs between the two under classes. In his annual address President Schurman called attention to this agreement, and he is greatly disappointed at this outbreak.

Awards Ready for Lucky Guessers in New Home Site Contest.

Wood, Harmon & Co. will announce the permanent name for their property at Kings Highway and Ocean avenue, Brooklyn, to-morrow. They called it Brooklyn's Harlem as a temporary name and then advertised extensively that they would give $1,000 for a suitable name. At that time it was supposed having the announcement on Labor Day, but owing to the great number of suggestions received the tabulating took much more time than had been anticipated and the absence from the city of first one and then another of the Board of Judges made a postponement necessary. So the first Saturday in October, the 4th, was the day finally selected.

A number of speakers have been invited to make short addresses upon the occasion, among whom will be James P. Farrell, of Port Jervis, the real estate expert; Montgomery Inge, a prominent lawyer of Mobile, Ala., and editors of the Brooklyn newspaper. There will also be a concert by Shannon's Twenty-third Regiment Band.

TO-MEASURE APPAREL.

Our to-measure shop will be a revelation to you. Doesn't suggest in any sense those pokey little shops to which men were compelled to go. More like a club room---makes you feel at home and at ease. New things not only in fabrics but in knacks that go to individualize Saks apparel. Despite all this the prices are reasonable. 6th floor.

LIVERY

Receives the attention due to its importance. For every service, either at home or club, hotel or apartment, carriage or auto, either ready for service or made to measure, we are correct-to-the-minute. Buttons, with monogram or crest, moulded or die cast. In addition, all the little things that go with it, such as collars, cravats, gloves and so forth. Sixth Floor.

SHOES FOR MEN.

You may safely show contempt for stormy weather, so far as your feet are concerned, if you have on a pair of Saks Shoes. They have a "Metallic Oak Sole." Do you know what that means? No? We don't either; it's a secret process. We do know, however, that they are absolutely waterproof. Our shop is the only place in this town where you can get them. You are not confined to any one grade of shoe, either, though we pride ourselves on the $3.50 kind, for very good reasons. Main Floor.

NECKWEAR & SHIRTS for MEN.

Two things always of interest to the well dressed man---shirts and scarfs. Ours should be of intense interest---they are new. Pretty figures and narrow stripes on a white background is the latest in shirts.

WHAT THEY COST.
